

Defining Your Life Purpose

Combining what you love, what you are great at, what you are paid for and what the world needs

Tag/Category: Whole System - Vision and Purpose
Culture/WorldView - Purpose and Growth

Challenge: How to lead a meaningful and happy life.

Solution:

Many people spend their lives in jobs they don't like because they need to pay the bills. Then they start saving money to do what they really like after the kids grow up or they retire, so if they do that, it is without a source of income. Likewise, some people are aware of the world's needs, are socially and environmentally conscious but believe they cannot do anything about it either because they don't have the skills required or need to pay the bills. Leading a life that is personally fulfilling and meaningful might be just a matter of reflecting about the point in which all of these aspects converge: what you love, what you are good at, what you are paid for and what the world needs.

References:

Exercise: hitting the bullseye

<http://www.pearsoned.co.uk/bookshop/article.asp?item=1823> Retrieved March 27, 2015.

<http://tinybuddha.com/blog/4-myths-about-doing-what-you-love-for-work/> Retrieved March 27, 2015.

<http://www.mindbodygreen.com/0-12190/how-to-make-money-doing-what-you-love.htm> Retrieved March 27, 2015.

Submitted by: Nara